Procedure

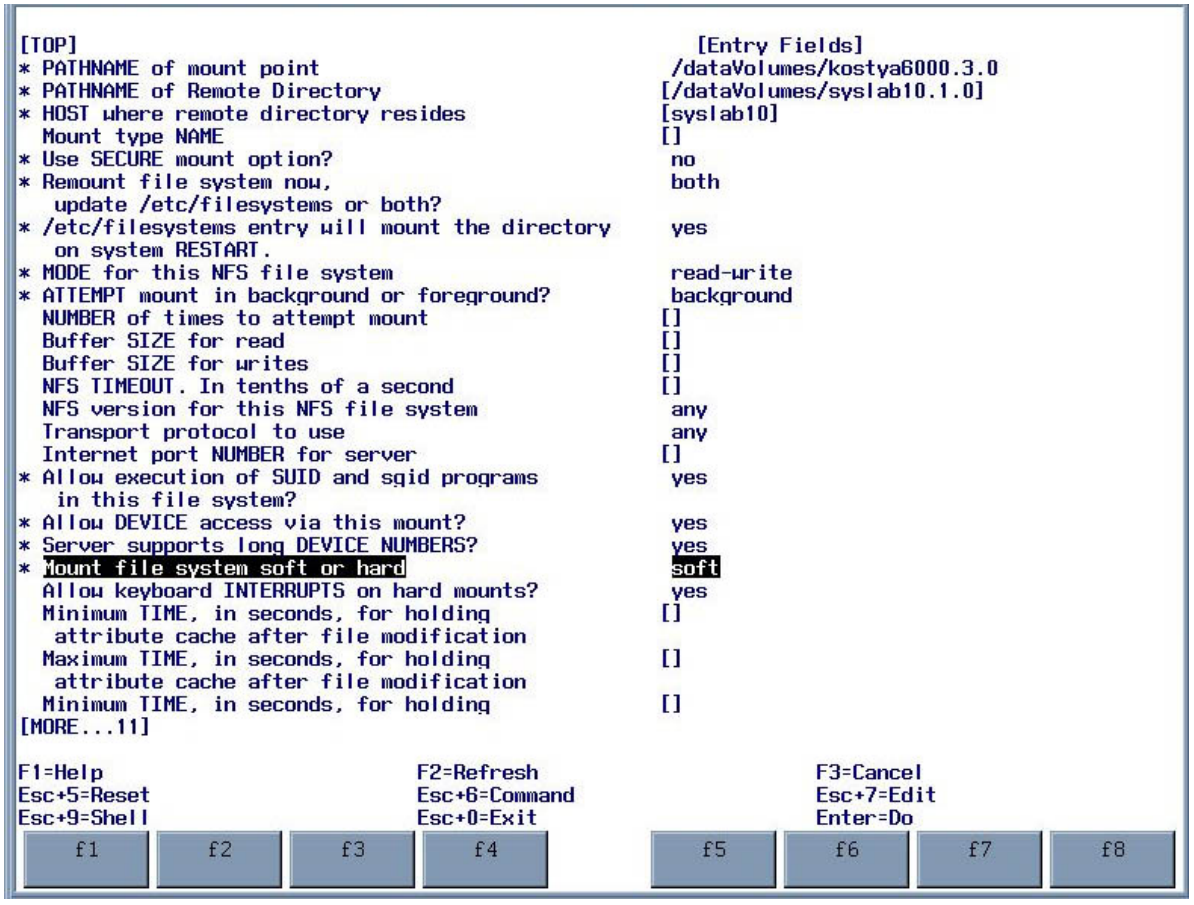

Publishing NFS Volumes over AppleTalk on Brisque 5.1

The procedure described in this document explains how to publish NFS server volumes over AppleTalk on Kodak Brisque 5.1 software, and to enable you to view Kodak files/Jobs from a Macintosh computer. To enable this procedure, HELIOS manages the foreign NFS volume resources.

Note: Part of the procedure is performed on Brisque and part of it is performed on the remote NFS server (Exastore).

Perform the following steps on Brisque:

1. Add the following FS line to the afpvolumes file on your Brisque:
   `/dataVolumes/kostya6000.3.0: kostya6000.3.0::fixed:readwrite:`
   Note: where `kostya6000.3.0` is the name of the local mount point.

2. Restart HELIOS.

Perform the following steps on the remote NFS server:

1. Cancel the management of the afp server on the remote directory.
2. Change the root volume permissions to 777.

Perform the following step on Brisque:

Run the rebuild desktop utility and verify that the desktop was created on the afp server that you have just defined. Note: The afp server is actually the NFS volume.
